Crippled Zeppelin Fights Storm Area On Return To Port

With Two Engines Dead, Due To Broken Shafts, Graf Limps Back Home in Storm.

BUILDERS DENY SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Passengers Depressed by Misfortune and Workers at Home Port Refuse All Information.

BY ALEXANDER R. VON KRYHA.
(Written for the Associated Press
Abroad Graf Zeppelin, Returning Friedrichshafen.)

Germany, May 16.—(11:00 P. M. (5:00 P. M. Eastern Standard Time))—Have just seen Barcelona (Spain). Now flying direction of Marseille (France) with only three engines. Speed 80 kilometers (49.8 miles), height 500 meters (1,640 feet). Hope to arrive over Marseille at 3 a. m. and Friedrichshafen at 12 o'clock noon. Passengers very much depressed and regret.

ZEPPELIN WORKS DENIES BAD ACCIDENT.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 17. (Friday)—(AP)—The Zeppelin works received word early this morning that the Graf Zeppelin, with two of its five motors out of commission, was making slow headway against a strong wind but was nearing the estuary of the Rhone river.

Officials of the Zeppelin works here declined tonight to make any statement on the situation. A feeling of black depression seemed to have settled over the entire works at the news that the damage necessitated a return here.

Tomorrow noon was the earliest that the ship was expected but it was said that she might not appear over Lake Constance before 4 p. m. The works did deny emphatically rumors that the Zeppelin had met with a more serious mishap than the crippling of two of its five motors. It was said that radio communication was being steadily maintained.

RUNS INTO STORM IN RHONE AREA.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 17. (Friday)—(United News)—The big dirigible Graf Zeppelin, forced to abandon its projected flight to America because of motor trouble which developed before it reached Gibraltar, was limping back to its hangar here this morning, the storm beating on the area in southern France.

Weather on the dirigible's route was becoming steadily worse, according to advices received here shortly after midnight. Strong northerly gales were sweeping through southern France in the vicinity of Marseille, which Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, said he expected to reach at 3 a. m. The dirigible, which was last reported making about 62 miles an hour, was expected to follow the Rhone valley through France. The weather reports said there was a low pressure area in the Gulf of Genoa and the Ligurian sea, causing strong gales through the valley.

It was believed that the Graf Zeppelin's trip would be made more difficult by the heavy clouds, rain and wind reported in the Rhone valley. Dr. Eckener probably would be forced to follow the river as his only guide for night flying under a cloudy sky.

It was forced to turn back when over Cape de Lano, between Valencia and Alicante, on the Spanish Mediterranean coast about 6:35 p. m. (12:35 p. m. eastern standard time) after approximately 1,000 miles had been negotiated.

Dr. Eckener advised officials that he hoped to reach Friedrichshafen about 10 a. m. Radio operators here said they were able to hear the big dirigible's wireless working but said full details of the trouble had not been received. Officials said they regretted that Dr. Duerr, the Zeppelin constructor, was absent from the works today. They expressed satisfaction, however, with the decision to turn back.

Public Service Board Approval of New Depot Site Brings Two Big Improvements for Downtown Atlanta

Here's the first picture of the proposed $3,000,000 office building development planned for the present site of the Union station by the United States Cold Storage Co., of Chicago. The first section of the building will be devoted to offices facing the Pryor street viaduct. It will be eleven stories in height with a tower seventeen stories high. The middle portion of the building will be used as a dry storage plant, six stories above the viaduct level and two stories below. The cold storage section will be the same size as the dry storage plant. Store rooms to be leased to individual firms will be located on the viaduct level on the Pryor street and Wall street sides and possibly on the Central avenue side, according to announcements made by representatives of the company. The public service commission Thursday issued an order permitting the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad to remove the Union depot from the present site to a location facing the Forsyth street viaduct.

Actual Work on Depot To Begin Within Week; Early Start Seen on Office Structure.

Approval by the Georgia public service commission, on Thursday, of the erection of a new union depot on a site adjoining the Throver building and facing the Forsyth street viaduct, not only solved Atlanta's 30-year-old struggle to do away with the unsightly train shed on the old Union depot site, but also made possible erection of a $3,000,000 17-story office and storage building on the old depot site, which Chicago interests have announced would go forward as soon as the site was made available. Actual construction on the new depot will begin within a week, it was stated after the action of the commission, by James A. Perry, chairman. President J. B. Hill, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, already has prepared and submitted detailed plans for the building and was only awaiting the approval of the commission before putting a crew of workmen to the task of changing tracks and beginning the new depot construction.

Action of the commission, in permitting change of the depot site, thus brings to Atlanta two magnificent developments. First, the new depot will be completed, in time for the opening of the winter traffic next fall. Secondly, the great office and storage building which, according to representatives of the Chicago interests, already has been planned and will be started at an early date.

The commission's order also takes cognizance of a plan to build a combination office and storage building on the old site at a cost of $3,000,000, which is proposed by the United Cold Storage Company, Inc., of Chicago, and stated that details of these plans, in all probability, will be worked out early in the summer.

In its order the commission granted the railroad authority to build the new station, change its tracks and make other preparations and also issued its order without any specified conditions as to the use of the railroad would make of the old site. It stated that the value of the property was so great that the commission was convinced that it would be used for a big commercial development and declared the use of the property for freight yards as an impossibility.

This action by the commission ends a 30-year fight that has been waged in Atlanta for a new Union station. The present building has been an offense to the eye for many years and, located in the heart of the city, it has brought much unfavorable comment.

The plans for the new station call for an investment of approximately $400,000. The plans show that a plaza will be erected facing the Forsyth street viaduct and that the station will be set back a short distance from this street. It also is contemplated that an entrance to the building will be cut into the Throver building located immediately adjoining the site on the north. Passenger trains will come in on the ground floor.

MEXICAN OFFICER EXECUTED BY REBS SAID RECOVERING

Mexico City, May 16.—(AP)—El Universal Grafico today prints a Juarez dispatch saying that Lieutenant Colonel Juan Aviles is recovering in a hospital there from "execution" by a rebel firing squad which administered even the coup de grace. He had been sentenced to death as a federal spy. Five shots from the firing squad entered his body and a final bullet was sent into his head behind his left ear.

The supposed corpse was left on the spot and was found a few hours later by a peasant. It was said the officer might be permanently dead as a result of the last shot fired into him, but was otherwise nearly recovered.

LEADERS OF U. S. BUSINESS PLAN VISIT TO RUSSIA

Recognition of Soviets May Follow Trip; Hoover Gives Approval To Projected Journey.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
(United News Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 16.—A delegation of leading American businessmen will visit Russia during July and August for a survey of economic conditions, an event of unusual significance because it has been approved, it is understood, by both President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson.

The president and his secretary of state have been advised of the mission and its nature.

Arouses Keen Interest.

The visit accordingly has aroused keen interest among those agitating for recognition of the soviet republic. This includes Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, who regards the mission as a most promising contribution to his campaign for Russian recognition. It is the first venture of this kind since the revolution 12 years ago and withdrawal of recognition when the soviets came into power.

Borah believes that the weight of business is the most effective factor for influencing the government's viewpoint. He re-introduced at the beginning of the special session his resolution for recognition, and is contemplating calling before the committee later some of those who will make the tour. He has withheld any agitation for his resolution until completion of the survey, of which has been closely advised.

Leave July 13.

The delegation, expected to number about 50 or more, will leave Berlin for Russia July 13, following the meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce there.

The survey will last a month. It is sponsored by the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, which numbers many prominent American businessmen as its directors, some of whom will make the trip.

The list of those who will comprise the mission has not been completed yet. Among those in charge of it, directors of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, are: Reeve Schley, vice president Chase National bank, New York; W. A. Harriman, George LeBlond, president Equitable Trust Company; Loyal Osborne, president Westinghouse Electric Company; J. H. Rand, chairman, Remington Arms Company; G. P. Wheeler, president Vacuum Oil Company; W. H. Woodin, president American Car Foundries Company; Alfred H. Swayne, vice president General Motors; H. H. Westinghouse, Westinghouse Brake Company, and Charles M. McPherson, vice president, Baldwin Locomotive Works.

Interests in Russia.

Industries represented by these men already have interests in Russia. Many big business corporations long have agitated for recognition of Russia in order to have this government's backing in development projects there, which include oil, manganese, power development and sale of agricultural implements, among others.

This mission will look over the field generally for change of policy, though those favoring recognition have felt the Hoover administration might bring a change. Recently, Secretary of State Stimson wrote to an American Federation of Labor official that the administration was "contemplating no change of policy, but this was not taken as in any way a final word. The federation has opposed recognition, and the inquiry was prompted by reports that President Hoover might change present policy.

Scare Dying Down.

The old scare of "bolshieviki," which has died down considerably, long was a factor against recognition. There was also a legal ground in the repudiation by the soviet government of the Krensky government's war debts. The Coolidge administration maintained a solid front against recognition.

America formerly was first in trade with Russia. It now is second, Germany having forged ahead. Last year, Russia bought $100,000,000 of goods in the United States, while this country purchased about $15,000,000 from Russia.

Americans have 14 concessions now in Russia: Germany, 31, and England 10. The Amtorg Trading Corporation is the representative of the Russian government's chief concessions committee in the United States. The soviet government is working out a liberal policy for granting foreign concessions.

The American mission is welcomed in Russia at this juncture of time because the soviet government is just embarking upon a five-year program of development of agriculture and industry. The mission will spend 10 days in Moscow. Among other things it will visit in the largest power project in Europe located at Kichikax, on the Dnieper river, under development by Colonel U. L. Cooper, of New York.

Explosion Which Killed 123 Caused by Instantaneous Combustion Due to Lax Inspection.

DOOR TO FILM VAULT FOUND OPEN

Plumber Who Saw Beginning of Tragedy Tells of Cause—No Individual Named in Charge.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
(United News Staff Correspondent)

Cleveland, Ohio May 16.—(AP)—Spontaneous combustion in an overheated storeroom caused the fire and explosions that wrecked the Cleveland Clinic building and took the lives of 123 patients, nurses and doctors, fire wardens reported today.

The heat came from a leaky steam pipe in the basement room, Deputy Wardens Max Gross and P. T. Ferrie, who made an investigation, reported. "It is obvious that negligence led to the explosion," however, neither his report nor that of the fire wardens attempted to fix responsibility.

It was the story of Boffery Boggs, a plumber, who was sent to repair the pipe, which led to the investigation and the decision that the heat caused the flames which liberated clouds of poisonous gases and overcame many of the 300 occupants of the building.

123 Known Dead.

As reports were received regularly of additional deaths, due to the insidious action of the fumes, the total mounted toward the 130 mark, with indications that this number would be increased before tomorrow. The late night list contained the names of 123 dead.

Boggs told the authorities he found the fireproof door to the vault open, and the place where the films were kept full of steam, presumably from a leaky pipe. He was unable to find the leak, however, and today noticed a brown, sticky substance on the ceiling from which steam seemed to be issuing.

He used a fire extinguisher with no effect and was overcome a few minutes later by the gas. As he was attempting to crawl out of the room, Boggs said, an explosion lifted him through the door and he eventually reached the outside, seeming to be none the worse for the experience.

Probers Study Door.

The blasted vault door, which was supposed to close automatically when the heat reached a sufficiently high degree to melt a link of metal, held the attention of some of the investigators. Had it been closed, authorities agreed, the tragedy would have been averted. Fire wardens Ferrie and Gross made a minute examination of the door and decided definitely it was wide open when the explosion occurred, as Boggs related. The door, in doubt, however, whether there had been sufficient heat in the room before the explosion to melt the fusible link which should have closed the door, Boggs was held in technical custody until further investigations have been completed.

In addition to the steam pipe theory, authorities began their investigation with two other ideas in mind as to how the films might have been ignited. Crossed wires on the X-ray machine might have provided the spark, they believed, or some one might have been burning rubbish in the nearby furnace and a spark had blown in.

After the films began to burn, it is believed, the entire stock exploded and

Storms, Revolt Encountered By Vanderbilts

Miami, Fla., May 16.—(AP)—Dodging typhoons and revolutions in various parts of the world during the past six months, Commodore and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, of New York, arrived at their harbor terminal, Island Estates, here on the yacht Ara this afternoon.

The Ara since November 17 made a complete circle of the globe, covering 26,516 miles. The arrival of the yacht marks the first time a yacht began and ended a world cruise here.

Approximately 3,000 specimens of deep sea life from the seven seas was the result of the cruise. With regard to the scientific phase of the trip, Commodore Vanderbilt said that lack of time only allowed them "to touch the high spots."

But that he had gathered data and many specimens for his private North Port, L. I. museum.

Paintings of fish in colors, the work of William E. Belanque, who accompanied the party, are considered by Commodore Vanderbilt as a valuable collection. The originals will be presented to the Museum of Natural History at New York after engraving plates are made.

Crowded into the short space of six months the Ara visited 43 foreign cities and islands, was sandwiched in between two typhoons in the Pacific ocean, arrived in Bombay shortly after rioting and was requested by the American consul at Manzanillo, Mexico, not to come ashore December 2, because more than 250 persons had been shot down in the streets with machine guns during a revolutionary uprising.

BILL FOR SURVEY OF BATTLEFIELDS PASSED BY SENATE

Washington, May 16.—(AP)—The senate passed today and sent to the president a house bill to provide for a survey for commemorative purposes of battlefields in the vicinity of Richmond, Va.

The secretary of war would make the survey, which would include the Cold Harbor battlefield, and an appropriation of $6,800 would be authorized.

Long Impeachment Collapses

Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, youngest of the 48 executives of the United States, declared victor in his impeachment trial Thursday when 45 senators signed an agreement to vote against removal on the ground that the eight charges voted by the house were illegally brought. He is shown, left, with John J. Overton (center) and Louis Morgan (right) of defense counsel at the bar of the senate.

Baton Rouge, La., May 16.—(AP)—Without one word of testimony being taken, the Louisiana senate court of impeachment stopped cold today and released Governor Huey P. Long from charges of high crimes and misdemeanors.

Just as the prosecution was ready to put on its first witness, Senator Philip H. Gilbert, lawyer and planter of Napoleonville and a Long supporter, presented to the court a written motion to adjourn sine die. The motion carried the signatures of 15 senators saying that regardless of the testimony they would vote to acquit the governor as they considered the impeachment proceedings illegal and unconstitutional.

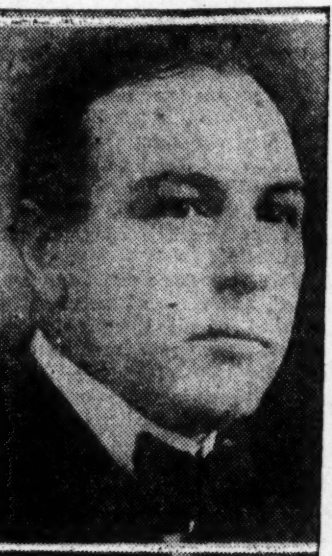

Faced with a certain loss of their case as the 15 senators constituted more than one-third of the 39 membership of the senate necessary to prevent conviction, the prosecutors threw the senate into a recess and called a caucus of the remaining 24 senators.

Discuss Situation.
Behind closed doors they discussed the situation earnestly and thoroughly and emerged with a declaration signed by all 24 concurring in the motion to adjourn but expressing the attitude of the 15 senators and expressing the opinion that it would be futile to proceed with the trial.

Thus shortly after high noon, the court of impeachment dissolved by unanimous consent and the first impeachment attempt ever aimed at a governor of Louisiana was brought to a formal close. Adjournment was taken amid light handclaps and some low cheers, but a large part of the senators and spectators accepted the result in total silence.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR P. M. GOODMAN TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Philip McKean Goodman, well-known Atlanta businessman, who died Wednesday at his

Mikell, Russell and Dole To Be Honored by Oglethorpe

The Rt. Rev. Henry J. Mikell, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Atlanta; Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, of the supreme court of Georgia; and Nathan Haskell Dole, president of the Omar Khayyam Club of America, famous linguist and translator, will be among those upon whom Oglethorpe will confer honorary degrees at its annual commencement exercises Sunday night at the Wesley Memorial church, it was announced Thursday.

Previous announcements told of honorary degrees which are to be conferred on the Rev. Louis D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, and Mrs. Joseph Madison High.

Bishop Mikell, Chief Justice Russell and Mr. Dole will be honored with degrees of bachelor of laws, all for especially meritorious work in their chosen fields. The bishop is one of the south's leading divines and his church work previously has attained for him many high honors. Chief Justice Russell, a University of Georgia alumnus, is to be honored chiefly for his work as a jurist, but also for his accomplishments as a public-spirited citizen. Mr. Dole, a translator of note, is the author of scores of educational volumes and previously has been honored by other institutions and whose students have profited by his work.

The services Sunday night will begin at 7:45 o'clock. The baccalaureate address is to be delivered by Dr. Henry Russell Stafford, pastor of the Old North church, of Boston, one of the oldest and most historic churches in the country.

THOMAS PATILLO DIES

Death Believed Due to Heart Failure.

Thomas A. Patillo, 58, night watchman, of 700 Kendall street, died at Grady hospital early Thursday night, after being brought to the hospital about 6 o'clock in a semiconscious condition.

According to hospital attendants, Patillo told them that he had taken poison about noon, but members of his family denied this, stating that he had been suffering from heart trouble and that he was stricken Thursday morning.

An autopsy was performed late Thursday night and doctors stated that Patillo apparently died from a heart attack, but a further examination will be made today, it was stated. The body was removed to the Blanchard Brothers funeral parlors, pending funeral arrangements, which have not been completed.

ALMA RUBENS SENT TO HOSPITAL AFTER NEW OUTBURST

Los Angeles, May 16.—(AP)—Alma Rubens, motion picture actress, was removed today to the Southern California Hospital for the Insane at Pomona on complaint of her mother, Mrs. Theresa Rubens, after another outburst which physicians attributed to her addiction to narcotics.

Miss Rubens' latest encounter with the authorities came this morning when her mother called sheriff's deputies to subdue the actress who had attacked her nurse and attempted to commit suicide.

Arriving at the home the officers were held off for three hours by Miss Rubens. She appeared on the porch brandishing a butcher knife and threatened to stab the deputies if they approached. The officers hid in nearby bushes and later when Miss Rubens again appeared on the porch unarmed they overpowered her and took her to the psychopathic ward of the city hospital.

On the way to the hospital the actress tried to escape. She was strapped up and rendered harmless.

RIVER SURRENDERS BODY OF ROME YOUTH

Recovery Comes Ten Days After Tragedy in the Oostanaula.

Rome, Ga., May 16.—(Special.)—Ten days and almost to the minute, from the time that little Leroy Hutchinson, 12-year-old boy, was drowned, the Oostanaula river here reluctantly gave up his body at 15 minutes before 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Ten days ago, shortly before 5 o'clock, Leroy and a companion, William Reese, were cast adrift without paddle in a boat in which they were playing. They became panic-stricken and jumped into the river, which was swollen beyond its banks from heavy rains.

Young Reese escaped when a blacksmith swam to him and brought him to the bank from a limb to which he clutched for support. Little Leroy was seen to vanish beneath the muddy waters and was not again seen until this afternoon when the lines of V. L. Griggs and W. C. Baker brought the Dobbs and Boykin Elected Trustees of Local Y. M. C. A.

S. C. Dobbs and S. F. Boykin, prominent Atlanta business men, were elected trustees of the Atlanta Young Men's Christian Association at the annual meeting of the directors and trustees Thursday afternoon at the local headquarters on Luckie street.

All officers of the board were re-elected as follows: J. K. Orr, president of the Y. M. C. A. company; chairman: John K. Ottley, president Fourth National bank, secretary, and T. K. Glenn, president Atlanta & Lowry National bank, treasurer.

The trustees present included J. Bulow Campbell, H. A. Maier, Joseph A. McCord, J. K. Orr, John K. Ottley, Ben S. Read and Hugh M. Willett. The directors present were Charles F. Stone, president; Lawrence Willett, vice president; S. F. Boykin, treasurer; Floyd Field, secretary; Milton W. Bell, J. J. Coole, Jr., S. C. Dobbs, J. Frank Fair, Francis E. Kamper, Charles M. Marshall, E. Warren Moore, Charles T. Pottinger and George Winship.

President Stone of the board of directors presented a special report on the proposed endowment fund of $100,000 to the Y. M. C. A. The report was approved and a special committee was authorized to carry the plans forward of securing the fund. The association already has received two small bequests and several gifts. The local Y. M. C. A. now has a membership of 2,500—1,739 young men, and 770 boy members, according to the annual report offered by Philip M. Colbert, general secretary of the association. Records show that more than 1,000 young men and boys visit the Y. M. C. A. daily during the year. In addition to their regular work in the Y. M. C. A., the physical directors actively co-operate with the Sunday schools and physical department of the elementary public schools and the boys' department has enrolled 305 boys in the Hi Y Clubs of the high schools of the city.

Two thousand seven hundred ninety-three young men have lived in the association dormitories during the year; 853 permanently and 1,934 temporarily.

During the 14 years the present building has been occupied, the report stated, the expenses of the association have totaled $1,061,542, of which $960,973 or 91.5 per cent has been paid by the young men and boys members, leaving a balance of only $100,569 or 8.5 per cent, to be contributed by the Atlanta public. The average annual contribution requirements for 14 years have been only $6,468, well within the possible income that might be derived from the endowment, it was pointed out.

body to the surface at a pier of the Fifth avenue bridge, more than 500 yards from where the boy sank to his death. Though others abandoned the search, these two have maintained a steady vigil for 10 days.

Young Hutchinson was the grandson of Mrs. Fanny Trapp, with whom he had been living prior to the tragedy. His parents separated years ago and his father, Jim Hutchinson, remarried.

Gable To Speak.
Francis Gable, editor of the Christian Business Magazine, a Unity publication, will be in Atlanta Saturday to address a gathering at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium at 2:30 o'clock. The subject of Mr. Gable's address will be "The Practice of Truth."

Negro Will Die In Chair Today For Slaying

Milledgeville, Ga., May 16.—(AP)—With his confession on record, telling in detail of the slaying, James Crumady, negro, awaits death in the electric chair at the state prison tomorrow for the murder of George Burt, Colquitt county merchant.

Superintendent Dunaway said the execution would take place about noon. He added that more than 10 people were expected to attend as witnesses, including five from Colquitt county who have asked for permits into the death chamber. Solicitor General Spurlin, of Valdosta, who prosecuted Crumady, was also expected to witness his death, the superintendent declared.

Crumady was convicted on circumstantial evidence and until last night he denied any knowledge of Burt's death. The merchant was slain after being robbed last October. His store was set on fire at the time of the killing.

Macon was selected as the meeting place for the sessions next May in accord with the rule of meeting at the same place selected by the Knights of Pythias.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Freda Waters, Savannah, grand senior; Mrs. Gertrude Peters, Savannah, grand junior; Mrs. Maude Long, Waycross, grand manager; Mrs. Jennie Du Bose, Ludowici, grand protector; Mrs. Clifford Wade, Brunswick, grand guard; Miss Annie Akin, Savannah, grand mistress of finances; Mrs. Annie W. Smith, Savannah, grand mistress of records and correspondence; Mrs. Mary Bond, Macon, grand state press correspondent.

SUGAR TARIFF DEBATE FEATURED IN HOUSE

Advocates of Higher Rates Have Inning in Fight for Protection.

Washington, May 16.—(AP)—Advocates of the proposed higher tariff of 240 cents a pound on Cuban sugar had their innings today in the house as the first week of general debate on the republican tariff bill ended.

The measure is not expected to be taken up for amendment until next week.

Representatives Colton, of Utah, and Leavitt, of Montana, both republicans, contended the proposed increase of sixty-four hundredths of a cent in the sugar duty was justified and contended that the principal agitation against it emanated from Cuban interests through their connection with the United States Sugar Association.

Charges that the sugar beet-growing states employed mostly Mexicans and had many Mexican children in the fields were denied by Colton, who declared that foreign labor was hired only as a last resort.

Utah was just as jealous of its child labor laws as any other states, he said, adding that statistical reports as to the employment of children in the beet fields had been disproved.

Leavitt argued that the increased sugar duty would have a tendency to stabilize prices to the consumer instead of increasing them.

During Colton's appearance, Representative Garner, of Texas, the minority leader, declared the high sugar protectionists had better accept a compromise for they did not have the strength to put over the duty carried in the bill.

He served notice that if he got the opportunity he would offer an amendment designed to stabilize the price of sugar at around 51-2 cents a pound throughout the country by making the sugar tariff effective only after the price of Cuban sugar dropped below 4.80 cents at New York.

Whenever the price declined below the 4.80 cent mark, Garner explained, his proposal would call for a tariff to equalize the difference between that price and 4.80.

The controversial export debenture clause of the senate farm relief bill which house democrats say they will attempt to incorporate in the tariff measure if it is ultimately eliminated from the farm bill was injected into the tariff debate by Representative Ragon, of Arkansas, a democratic member of the ways and means committee.

"I'm not hot on the debenture plan," he said, "but to make the tariff effective on agriculture, that is a solution. You may call it a bounty, but it will bring relief to the wheat and cotton farmer."

Representative Kearns, of Ohio, a republican member of the committee, declared the more the democrats talked against the bill, the more he was convinced it was a "perfect" measure.

He opposed a duty on hides, which are left on the free list in the Hawley measure, but said if a tariff were placed on them, a levy not only compensatory but protective should be placed on leather and shoes, also now free.

Proponents of leather and shoe tariffs took their case before the republicans who framed the bill today along with other house members who are clamoring for amendments carrying

Brilliant Papers Feature Sessions of Psychiatrics; Convention To Close Today

Alcoholic Insanity, Hallucinations and Language of the Mentally Affected Are Discussed.

A study of post-prohibition alcoholic insanity by Dr. W. C. Garvin, of Birmingham, N. Y., a brilliant paper on hallucinations by Dr. C. Macfie Campbell, of Harvard university, and a scholarly treatise on the language of the mentally affected, by Dr. William A. White, of Washington, D. C., attracted widespread attention at the Thursday meetings of the convention of the American Psychiatric Association, now in session at the Biltmore. A lengthy session this morning will bring the convention to a close.

Dr. Garvin's survey of alcoholic psychosis, based on figures gathered in New York state hospitals, revealed the percentage of persons so afflicted has been steadily on the increase since the passage of the prohibition law, but still is not quite so high as during the years 1911-12-13 and 1914. During the war years of 1916-17 the rate was found to be the lowest. The present day alcoholic victim generally is found to be more seriously affected than those of former years, he said, this being due largely to the quality of the beverages consumed. Dr. Garvin, despite the figure he used, gave his personal prediction that in years to come drinking would decrease among all classes. He admitted freely that drinks are easily obtainable, to the best of his knowledge, in practically every place in the country, providing one has the price.

Other addresses during the morning session of interest were by Dr. A. P. A. and its afternoon session, held jointly with the American Psychiatric Association, were papers by Dr. A. A. Brill, of New York, and Dr. W. M. English, of Brockville, Ont. Dr. Brill, famed as the translator of Freud's works and long-time champion of psychoanalysis, discussed this type of mental treatment in relation to schizophrenia, one of the most common of mental disorders. Dr. English discussed experiments recently made using manganous chloride for injection in certain types of mental disorders.

Other speeches at the two sessions were made by Dr. Clarence A. Neyman, of Chicago, on the relation of the social and non-social attitude of mind to physical and mental troubles; Dr. Nolan D. C. Lewis, of Washington, D. C., reporting on cases of prolonged schizophrenia; and Dr. Adolph Stern, of New York, speaking on the relation of certain types of perversion to nervous troubles.

Round Table Discussions. Thursday night the association divided into three groups for round table discussions, following dinner. Dr. White acted as moderator for the group on administration, and speakers were Dr. C. A. Bonner, of Hathorne, Mass., and Dr. Richard Dewey, of La Canada, Cal. Another group on social psychiatry and children's problems was presided over by Dr. Lawson G. Lowery, and heard speeches by Dr. F. N. Anderson, of Kansas City, Mo.; Dr. Harry Stack Sullivan, of Towson, Md., and Dr. Lewis. A third section was on clinical psychiatry and was headed by Dr. Campbell and addressed by Dr. J. M. Thomas, of Boston, Mass., and Dr. E. L. Horger, of Columbia, S. C. The fourth group, on occupational therapy, was headed by Dr. W. Rush Dunton, Jr., and heard a speech by F. A. H. Pierce, of Northampton, Mass. Dr. A. H. Haggles, of Yale university; Dr. Howard Potter, of New York, and T. G. Kirby, of Rochester, N. Y., Thursday night were guests of honor and speakers at the regular meeting of the Fulton County Medical Society.

MERCER BOOK NAMES 'OUTSTANDING' MEN

Macon, Ga., May 16.—(Special.)—With the appearance of the 1928-29 yearbook, annual of the senior class at Mercer university, scheduled for Monday, editors of the publication today released the names of 40 students who have been elected the "most outstanding" men in their classes.

These men were selected by a vote of their classmates several weeks ago and the editors of the yearbook refused to make known their names until three days before the appearance of the yearbook on the campus.

The "outstanding" seniors are: Will Ed Smith, of Fitzgerald; J. Q. Davidson, of Fort Valley; R. B. Gilbert, Jr., of Greenville, Ga.; Charlie Wallace, of Waynesboro, Buford Boone, of Newnan; Louie D. Hill, of Euclid, Ala.; Davis Martin, of Gainesville; John Gilbert, of Brunswick; J. A. Hammock, of Columbus; Eugene Eller, of North Wilkesboro, N. C.

The sophomores: Copeland Carter, of Hartwell; Bill Brown, of McDonough; Archie Granda, of Macon; Emmett Waller, of Barnesville; Tom Warlick, of Fairmount; Julian Webb, of Valdosta; Hubert Porter, of Toxco; Joe Matt, of Barnesville; Fred Shaw, of Tifton; Harold Clifton, of Marietta.

The freshmen: Seth Lee, of Fort Myers, Fla.; Littleton Glover, of Newnan; Benning Grice, of Macon; Henry Watterson, of Eatonton; Bernard Davis, of Shelbyville, Ky.; John Harrison, of Macon; Jimmie Etheridge, of Perry; Ben Alford, of Hartwell; John Frierson, of Macon; Tom Vickery, of Hartwell.

The book contains a picture of "the most modern girls" in various colleges of the state, Miss Martha Lamar, president of the student body of Wesleyan college, occupies the front page of this feature section.

SPECIAL STRIKE PROBE COMMITTEE IS URGED

Select Group Better Able To Know Conditions, Simmons Declares.

Washington, May 16.—(AP)—A proposal that a special committee be made by the textile industry should be made by a special committee rather than by the committee on manufacturers was advanced in the senate today by Senator Simmons, democrat, North Carolina.

He expressed his belief that a select committee including senators familiar with localities affected would understand the problems involved better than the manufacturers committee. Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, replied that a more impartial inquiry could be conducted by senators not living in areas to be investigated. Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, called Simmons' attention to the fact that the manufacturers body included two New England senators—Metcalfe, of Rhode Island, and Hale, of Maine—and two southern senators—Smith, of South Carolina, and Tyson, of Tennessee—and said this insured a committee with members fairly well acquainted with local conditions in their classes.

Right Questioned. The right of the federal government to make the proposed inquiry was questioned by Senator Overman, democrat, North Carolina, who said Wheeler, democrat, Montana, author of the resolution authorizing the investigation, defended it, declaring that the inquiry was related to federal affairs in connection with the tariff.

Wheeler contended that the textile industry was appealing for higher or tariff protection on the ground that it would mean higher wages for the employees. He said it was up to the federal government to see if the employees were getting the benefits.

The Montanan again expressed his willingness to extend the scope of the investigation to include northern as well as southern states, and said he had no interest in which committee made the inquiry so long as it was fair and impartial.

Declaring the federal government already had agencies through which it could secure any information desired about conditions in the industry, Senator Overman demanded to know "what good the inquiry would do."

"I am opposed to it," he said, "on the ground that the federal government has nothing to do with this matter. It can't regulate these industries. This is a question for state control."

He demanded that the investigation, if made, should include the entire textile industry.

STRUCK BY TRUCK, FRONT OF TROLLEY CAR IS RIPPED OFF

The front end of a one-man street car was almost entirely ripped off, leaving the motorman "high and dry" at his control box Thursday morning, when the trolley was struck by a truck at Ponce de Leon avenue and Peachtree street.

Luther Smith, negro, driver of the truck, is being held by the police on a charge of reckless driving. The report of Patrolman William McKenney said that Smith attempted to pass the street car on the wrong side of the street. The negro also was speeding, the police report said.

Passengers on the trolley were transferred to another car and the damaged street car towed to the Butler Electric haulage along Peachtree was tied up a quarter of an hour by the crash.

Retail Hardware Association Brings Convention To Close

Discussion of "Planning for Profit," with a summarizing address by Harold Bervig, of the National Retail Hardware Association, featured the closing sessions of the Southeastern Retail Hardware Association, which convened here Tuesday.

All sessions were held in the auditorium and the convention as a whole was described by officials as one of the most successful in the history of the organization. While it was not definitely decided, it is thought that the 1930 convention also will be held in Atlanta.

Lon Harkey, of Sharon, president of the Tennessee Retail Hardware and Implement Association, presided at Thursday morning sessions. T. O. Murray, of Bessemer, president of the Alabama association, presided Thursday afternoon.

Those who spoke at the Thursday morning session included John R. Hall, Jr., of Moultrie, on the subject of "Co-operation With Competition"; G. S. Moser, of St. Augustine, Fla., on "Concentration of Quality." The use of "loss leaders," or items offered at a special price to attract new trade, was handled by J. E. Robison, Jr., of Thomasville.

Modernizing Store. Charles McKee, of Jackson, Tenn., told of the experience his firm had in remodeling and modernizing their store to conform to the buying habits of the modern housewife and how it had resulted in supplementing their newspaper advertising and other sales efforts in steadily increasing retail sales.

C. W. Truitt, of Commerce, newly-elected president of the Georgia Retail Hardware Association.

SIX RINGLEADERS IN PRISON MUTINY ARE TRANSFERRED

Six prisoners at the Gwinnett county convict camp who yesterday led a mutiny Thursday were transferred to other camps in the state and separated, the state prison commission announced.

The ring leaders were Harry Arendell, serving 30 to 60 years for highway robbery; James O. Cook, serving three to five years for burglary; Charles Thompson, serving two to four years for robbery, all were sentenced from Fulton county; M. F. Bufington, from Jackson county, serving 10 years for bank robbery; Prior Duke, Macon county, serving 10 to 15 years for statutory offense, and Charles Smith, Union county, serving a 10-year burglary sentence.

Forty-three of the 56 convicts in the Gwinnett camp Wednesday refused to leave their cages when called out for work, and throughout the day looted in the stockade yard. Judge G. A. Johns, of Windsor, member of the prison commission, settled the mutiny and the six leaders were transferred.

Each of them was labeled "desperate" in turning them over to other wardens.

Members of Atlanta Post No. 1 of the American Legion will be entertained by instructors and students of the Margaret Mooring School of Dancing at their next luncheon meeting Monday noon at the Henry Grady hotel. The program will be featured by numbers by Miss Mooring, Cuba Nasworthy and others, accompanied by Mami Calloway at the piano.

WALTON ELECTED AS MODERATOR AT CHURCH MEET

Princeton, Ky., May 16.—(AP)—The Rev. Howard C. Walton, of Birmingham, Ala., was elected moderator of the general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at its opening session here late today. The election was by acclamation.

Advocates of the additional endowment of $500,000 for Bethel college, in Tennessee, called Dr. Walton's election as forecasting favorable action by the assembly, which takes up the general question Saturday. Dr. Walton is an alumnus of Bethel and is said to favor the proposal. Four cities were seeking the next meeting when the centennial session of the Cumberland Presbyterian church opened here today.

Cities seeking the convention are Lebanon, Tenn.; Marshall, Mo.; Birmingham, Ala., and Olney, Texas. The Rev. Dr. J. L. Hudgens, of Nashville, Tenn., retiring moderator, preached at the morning meeting. Approximately 1,000 delegates are attending.

Methods of "Pushing Sales" was the subject discussed by Jennings D. Cottrell, of Leesburg, newly-elected president of the Southeastern Retail Hardware and Implement Association.

Advertising Necessary. "The two essentials of pushing sales," declared President Cottrell, "are advertising and an organized sales force. The trouble with most retailers," he said, "is that they try to do the policy of using just enough advertising to get by with instead of making it a means of carrying each day or each week a real buying message to the people of their communities. Advertise constantly and not spasmodically if you expect to get new customers and increase your sales, then train and organize your sales force to back up your advertising. Good business is the result," he said.

Other speakers included Mr. Baird, of Lebanon, Tenn., and George M. Gray, of Colchester, Ohio, past president of the National Retail Hardware Association.

A question box discussion featured the Thursday afternoon session, when a number of dealers discussed operating and credit problems, followed by a summary address of all sessions by Mr. Baird.

Mrs. Walter Harlan, of Atlanta, wife of the secretary of the association, was presented with a token of appreciation for the services she had contributed to the success of the association.

ENSIGN RETURNED TO NORFOLK AFTER MYSTERY ABSENCE

Norfolk, Va., May 16.—(AP)—Former Ensign Beverly E. Wilson, who mysteriously disappeared from the torpedo school of the United States naval training station at Newport, R. I., October 18, 1927, is now at the Hampton Roads naval training station in the custody of naval authorities. He was found in Panama, but his complete blank as to his past, on February 18, last. At that time Ensign Wilson was serving as a private in the United States army in Panama, but he says he does not remember when or where he enlisted and did not remember anything of his past life until after he had been turned over to naval authorities in Panama and met an old classmate from Annapolis.

Ensign Wilson was graduated from the naval academy in 1923 and shortly thereafter was married to Miss Dorothy Schroeder, of Baltimore. He is the son of former Judge and Mrs. B. F. Wilson, of Kingsville, Kieburg county, Texas, and his disappearance in 1927 attracted considerable attention throughout the country. The young officer had a clean record at Annapolis and in the active service of the navy. On October 13, 1927, he was seen by friends in Newport and never heard of again until last February, one week before his disappearance. He had suffered severe head injuries in an automobile accident.

Liquor Smugglers MAY HAVE BROUGHT FLY TO FLORIDA

Tampa, Fla., May 16.—(AP)—Federal customs patrol authorities apparently take some stock in the theory that liquor smugglers brought the Mediterranean fruit fly into Florida. In an appeal to farmers and grove owners published here today the officials ask for immediate report of any knowledge of smuggling operations.

The appeal points out the measures taken to prevent pests entering this country through regular channels would support the belief "that the fly was brought here by run runners in bags of straw concealing their wares."

"Because the citrus industry may be wiped out unless this importation is stopped we are asking all citizens of the state to co-operate with us in the suppression of smuggling in Florida waters."

REMAINING BANK SURVIVES 'RUN' AT LAKELAND

Lakeland, Fla., May 16.—(AP)—The Lakeland State Bank and Trust Company today successfully withstood a run by frightened depositors at 1 o'clock this afternoon the lobby practically was clear.

The run was the second since the First National Bank of Lakeland closed its doors yesterday, both onslaughts of depositors having been repulsed when the bank promptly met all demands for cash.

William P. McDonald, president of the State Bank and Trust Company, telephoned from New York to "pay 'em all off."

A truck load of money was rushed here from the Exchange National bank of Tampa. This shipment reached the bank about 11 o'clock today and convinced depositors they would lose nothing.

The last withdrawal today was made at 12:25 p. m.

ALF TAYLOR ABLE TO SIT UP AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Johnson City, Tenn., May 16.—(AP)—Former Governor Alf Taylor today apparently was on the road to rapid recovery, after several days of unconsciousness due to illness.

The "Sage of Happy Hollow" was permitted to sit up today and when a newspaperman called to inquire as to the state of his health found him reading a paper.

Since word first went out that "Uncle Alf" was in critical condition, telegrams have been received from all sections of the country expressing regret of his illness and wishing him a speed recovery.

Not a few of the telegrams were from fox hunters, of whom "Uncle Alf" is the dean.

Physicians while not pronouncing the former governor out of danger, said today they were satisfied with their patient's progress.

GOLDWYN PICTURED HEAD OF BRITISH MOVIE CONCERN

London, May 16.—(AP)—The Daily Mail today envisages a giant British motion picture concern headed by Samuel Goldwyn, American producer, and backed by ample capital.

The paper made announcement that Goldwyn had been invited by English financiers to head the new concern, and said that Mr. Goldwyn, in answer to the Mail's inquiry, had admitted he was seriously considering the offer. He said, however, he would not decide definitely until after he had returned to Hollywood from London.

THE NEW STATION.

The State Public Service Commission has done well to authorize the building of a Union station upon the state's property west of Forsyth street.

The building of the Central avenue and Pryor street viaducts, with their connections, has rendered the old Union station far more valuable for other purposes than for depot use for which it is entirely too small.

The obvious thing to do is to construct a new and worthy station where it will most adequately serve the public and the operations of the railroads that must use it.

The commission, after a full and careful hearing, has done the public and the state's property a highly commendable service in authorizing the change.

The old site will undoubtedly be improved in a manner befitting Atlanta's very center, thus giving both the city and the state two great building improvements.

The new Union station decision will undoubtedly help to determine the location of the new federal postal building and closer connections with the Terminal station.

A FAIR DEAL OR NONE.

That was a very revealing statement that President McMahon, of the United Textile Workers of America, made to the senate committee on manufactures. He was urging adoption of the Wheeler resolution directing the committee to investigate textile labor conditions in Tennessee, North Carolina and South Carolina. After reciting certain wage schedules in those states,

he said:

"These are the conditions that have closed down northern mills.

We must bring up the level in the south to help the industry in the north."

So the strikes in the southern mills areas were not fomented primarily to lift the southern workers out of unprofitable and distressing conditions, but to save the mills and mill workers of the north who are unable to survive against southern competition.

With that uncovering of "the milk in the coconut" the senate committee should not find its proper action hard to determine.

If this proposed investigation is in aid of northern mills and mill workers the investigation, if it is to be made, should begin with them and then broaden down to the southern mills and mill workers.

That course is the only logical and fair one for determining how far the conditions of northern factories and labor have been affected by conditions in the south, and just why the southern conditions have their effects upon northern conditions.

The tenable objection to a resolution restricting the investigation to Tennessee and the Carolinas is the inherent partiality of it. Let it take in the textile industry and its workers all over the country and no one will be warranted to resist it. The people of the south, certainly will not object to having textile conditions in this section fully and fairly investigated, but there can be no just basis of comparison of those conditions with conditions in the industry in the north unless the latter are investigated fully and fairly in the same proceeding.

Representatives of the south in congress should resolutely resist

this plain effort to segregate southern textile conditions and stigmatize them in partial reports, and without setting those conditions in fair comparison with the conditions existing in the industry in Maine,

Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

A comprehensive uncovering of the methods of labor, wages, living conditions and factory relations to employers north as well as south

cannot be objectionable, but no sectional hostile investigation should be permitted.

THE DELUSIVE DEBENTURE.

Numerous readers of The Constitution appear puzzled by the debenture

bill passed by the house of representatives. They ask to be told what a debenture is and how it is imagined to operate for the relief of the farmers.

In the south the main interest in debentures will pivot upon cotton.

As there is no tariff on cotton it is proposed to issue debentures on export cotton on the basis of 2 cents per pound, or $10 upon the average commercial bale for every bale exported to a foreign country. The debenture, issued by the United States treasury to the exporter of the cotton, will be cashable in payments of import duties at the custom houses, and in no other way.

If southern cotton growers produce 14,000,000 bales of lint cotton this year, 8,000,000 of which will be taken by American spinners and 6,000,000 by foreign spinners, the cotton debentures would be given to the exporters of those

6,000,000 bales; the 8,000,000 bales sold and consumed by home

mills would get no debentures.

The imaginations of the debenture statesmen is that the bonus of $10 per bale given to the middlemen who export the 6,000,000 bales would automatically raise the price of the whole 14,000,000 bales

by $10 per bale at the farm gate?

Is that conclusive, or—delusive?

CONSERVE THE CHILDREN.

This is national "Hospital Week," but more poignantly in many places

it takes on the character of "child salvage" week.

There is no duty of civilized mankind that rises higher in obligations than to conserve and care for the childhood of the race and nation.

The richest man should think more devotedly of his heirs than of his bonds, and the humblest man, or mother, is often found more passionately anxious for the health and minds of his or her young.

The strength and insurance of a nation lies in the health of its people more than in their wealth. The constant and ample transformation of the wealth into health is the highest humanity and patriotism.

Great strides will be made all over the nation this week in appropriations and endowments for hospitals and especially for those maintaining clinics and wards for the salvage of suffering and dependent children. Here in Atlanta we have some urgent and appealing opportunities to aid in such work by donations and by endowments of beds and rooms in local hospitals. It is difficult to figure how a few dollars of one's surplus can be more helpfully employed than in the hands of those who are helping to recover little children to health and hopefulness.

HAIL, GOOD WILL WEEK!

Governor Hardman has proclaimed

May 13 to 24 as "Good Will

Week" in Georgia. That is in accordance with the practice in civilized countries of thus annually celebrating the meeting of the first world peace conference at The Hague on May 18, 1899. The object of the celebrations is to center the thoughts of peoples upon the great objective of universal peace and lead them to the common will to outlaw war!

The Georgia Committee on Cause and Cure of War will hold a statewide conference on the subject in Atlanta on Thursday, May 23; at Egleston hall, with three sessions during the day. The committee is made up from the most prominent citizens and organizations interested in the promotion of universal peace.

Their activities are advancing the cause in the most potential circles of the state.

The strongest current of human thought and desire throughout

Christendom in this era is that which demands that wars shall cease and "the sword shall devour no more." As an instrument of justice, honor and international equity, war is now known to be always futile, costly and destructive of human welfare. Hence the significance and value of "Good Will Week" celebrations.

The greatest holiday artists in the world are the traffic cops.

The greatest unemployment crisis of the time is that which confronts Hoover daily.

Congressman Rainey has solved

the question, "What to do with our ex-presidents?" He attacks them without justification.

It was a fight that brought the trouble on Germany. But a fiat won't take 'em out.

What does one do with all the crossword puzzles one solves?

The president is playing up the farmer on tax matters so they won't use the tax on him.

They put Mr. Sinclair in charge of the jail pharmacy, which will give him opportunity to swallow the bitter methods of labor, wages, living conditions and factory relations to

employers north as well as south

cannot be objectionable, but no sectional hostile investigation should

be permitted.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Fascist Censorship.

It is understood in Rome that the government is considering the possibility of establishing a censorship of all books published in Italy. For example, all publishing firms of the country have been requested to submit to the local fascist federations for approval any books dealing with political matters. When the federations in question feel any doubt as to whether or no a certain book should be allowed to appear the final judgment is to be given by the headquarters of the fascist party in Rome.

The actual examining of books in manuscript form will be done by university students designated by the fascist groups at universities. This step is being taken on account of the increasing number of books on fascism appearing in Italy under pseudonyms in which, under cover of apparent exaltation of the fascist regime, there is often veiled criticism of Signor

Mussolini. Moreover, it is hoped by this measure to prevent the Italian intellectuals opposed to the present regime from publishing their works under pseudonyms.

French Nationalism.

French nationalism as championed by the monarchists and the conservative groups is said to be on the ascendency. Senator Maurras and Leon

Daudet are its high pontiffs and prophets. It stands for certain principles that find a receptive ear with country squire, landowners and the old nobility. A great admiration for Daudet as a man of letters causes me to follow his political reasonings, and lead to the conclusion that French nationalism feeds on suspicion and hatred of Germany. War is always and again pictured as a certainty.

Germany is arising, Germany is planning a war of revenge. Germany will disappear with the formality of declaring war next time and will attack without warning. This is the eternal and monotonous refrain of these nationalists. And their advice, of course, is let us strike be-</

COMMITTEE TO DRAFT JUVENILE COURT LAWS

Complete Revision Will Be Deferred and Amendments Suggested.

The report of the Georgia Children's Code Commission to Governor L. G. Hardman and the general assembly will be drafted by a committee of which Dr. W. L. Funkhouser is chairman, it was decided Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the commission in the office of Judge John D. Humphries, chairman, at the Fulton courthouse. The report will be released within the next two weeks, it was said.

At the commission's meeting, means of strengthening the present juvenile court law were discussed. The commission decided to recommend that a complete revision of the law be deferred, and that at this time the law be strengthened by amendment. Consideration was given to certain needed provisions which were brought to the

COMMITTEE NAMED TO MEET VISITORS TO BAR GATHERING

A special committee of members of the Atlanta Bar Association was appointed Thursday to meet all incoming trains on May 30 and escort arriving delegates to the convention of the Georgia Bar Association to their hotels. The convention opens May 30 and closes June 2.

There are more applications for memberships this year than ever before, said Logan Blackley, clerk of the court of appeals, who is treasurer of the association. For many years meetings of the state association have been held at Tybee Island, Savannah, but the convention this year was transferred to Atlanta because this city is more centrally located and a greater attendance is possible.

Attention of the commission by some of the leading juvenile court judges of the state following a meeting on Tuesday in the office of Judge Humphries.

The perfecting of legislative recommendations to be included in the report of the commission was given to a committee with John R. L. Smith as chairman.

The commission directed that the following be requested to serve as a board of advisors to the commission: Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools; Dr. T. F. Abernethy, commissioner of health; Dr. C. M. Woodward, executive secretary, department public welfare; Hal Stanley, commissioner of commerce and labor; Miss Emma Hardcastle, executive secretary, Georgia Children's Home Society; Dr. C. D. Benson, Emory law school.

CHEST SPENDS $110,282 SINCE JANUARY 1, 1929

Entire Sum Goes to 39 Agencies, Report at Meeting Shows.

Atlanta has expended in social welfare work, in the necessary tasks of relief and development which are the obligations of every community, the sum of $110,282.65 since January 1, through the Atlanta Community Chest, according to the report of the Chest's executive committee at the semi-annual meeting of the Chest membership Thursday afternoon.

Every cent of this sum, it was reported, has gone directly to the 39 societies supported through the Chest, and a measure of service thus made possible was shown in the record of a monthly average of 17,352 persons or families served.

This report of the executive committee, of which Henry C. Heinz is chairman, said: "The committee believes that the Chest is doing a worthy work in a wise and capable manner, deserving the confidence and support of every citizen. It believes that Atlanta can do what other cities in the southeast do in the maintenance of welfare work. We believe the Chest furnishes everyone with an opportunity to invest in the future betterment of Atlanta by aiding unfortunate people to establish themselves."

"Under the direction of the committee a letter and financial statement was sent out with the April statement to all subscribers, showing the probability of a Chest indebtedness of about $47,000 on December 31, 1929. This statement met with a response

Sills, Mackaill Drawing Crowds To Metropolitan

Large crowds are attending the presentation of "His Captive Woman" at the Metropolitan theater this week and are enjoying a picture that has scored an immense hit. It is a combination talking picture with Milton Sills and Dorothy Mackaill in leading roles.

The picture tells a remarkable story of the quest of a policeman who is sent to the South Sea islands to bring back a beautiful woman as prisoner to face a murder charge. The adventures of the officer with his captive which includes a vivid shipwreck scene, are vastly exciting.

All the action is told at a trial scene, with flashbacks depicting the stories of the witnesses. At last Sills himself takes the stand and tells the story of his amazing adventures with the woman, with whom he finally falls in love. There is a climax that is surprising and brings a lump into the throats. It's a dandy picture and is wonderfully acted.

Another feature of the Metropolitan program is the showing of a Fox movie in color splashed crotone. Through his connections here he has gained a wide circle of business and social friends. He has the general superintendency of a local store to become retail manager for the Sears, Roebuck organization.

WASSER IS NAMED RETAIL MANAGER OF SEARS, ROEBUCK

Arthur Wasser, widely known Atlanta, who for the past 25 years has been connected with a prominent local department store, has been named general retail manager of the Sears, Roebuck & Company store here.

his new duties and on Thursday announced that his aim will be to improve service rendered Sears, Roebuck patrons here.

Mr. Wasser is a native Georgian and all his business life has been spent in retail merchandising here. Through his connections here he has gained a wide circle of business and social friends. He has the general superintendency of a local store to become retail manager for the Sears, Roebuck organization.

U. S. Congressman DePriest To Speak In Atlanta Tonight

Congressman Oscar DePriest, of the first Illinois congressional district, the first negro congressman elected in the past 28 years, will speak at Big Bethel A. M. E. church at 8 o'clock tonight.

Bishop W. A. Fountain, of the A. M. E. church, is chairman of the committee of 200 on entertainment which has made elaborate preparations for the occasion. It is stated that more than 1,000 tickets already have been sold and that large delegations from Alabama, North and South Carolina and Tennessee will be present.

The auditorium of Big Bethel church has been arranged to comfortably seat 2,000 and local citizens who have not yet obtained tickets may get them at the Butler street Y. M. C. A., during the day.

A special musical program has been arranged and Bishop Fountain will preside.

Congressman DePriest, who was born in Selma, Ala., is coming here in the interest of the Butler street Y. M. C. A., which organization is seeking to raise sufficient funds to carry on its present program among negro boys during the summer.

ALEXANDER TALKS OF STATE FINANCES AT JAYCEE MEETING

The state of Georgia is facing an impossible situation due to the condition of its finances and the true facts are not being given to the public, declared Hooper Alexander in a talk before the weekly luncheon meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon.

The speaker stated that the state treasury did not have the necessary funds to pay its April bills and that many other institutions dependent on the state for support found themselves facing the same difficulties.

An additional feature of the meeting was the presentation of a large number of cups to the winners of the recent Jaycee golf tournament. Plans also were announced for forming a large delegation to attend the national junior chamber convention at Flint, Mich., in June.

MOONEY'S LAKE HAS ARTESIAN WELL WATER

Mooney's lake, popular bathing and picnicking resort just off Piedmont road, has opened for the summer season with special artesian well water facilities. A 408-foot artesian well was sunk through rock and the flow into the lake is at the rate of 200 gallons a minute, according to D. S. Mooney, owner and operator. The well was drilled by Hamilton & Sullivan, of Bremen, Ga., for 17 years engaged in this business.

Tech and Georgia Begin Final Series Today in Athens

Bulldogs Favored Over Jacket Nine

Kid Clay's Team Crippled But Hopes To Break Even in Closing Engagements.

Athens, Ga., May 16.—(Special.)—Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia are set to clash on the diamond here this afternoon in the first of a two-game series which will close the season for each team.

Georgia's Bulldogs seem to be in a fair way to secure a potent revenge for all the insults heaped on their heads by the Jackets in past encounters this year. The Athenians have a powerful ball club this season and sport a highly satisfactory record in the conference loop. They stand well up the list, and are led only by teams who have played but three or four games within the circuit, so that they may be classed as the real leader in the chase for the top of the heap.

The Bulldogs enter this series with a two-game lead over the Jackets in their annual battle, having taken the scalp of the Engineers in the series at Atlanta two weeks ago. A double win on their home park would send the Georgians well out in front of the pack in the conference standings, and with their past record as a basis for judging, the Bulldogs bid fair to ease the Techsters down twice to repeat the results of the battles at Spiller field.

UNEARNED RUNS.
The Jackets feel now, and probably always will, that they should have come through in the series at Atlanta, however, as but three of the many Bulldog runs scored were earned, while each Tech tally came as the result of consistent clutching.

It will be hard to show the Bulldogs just why they should not have won the earlier pair, and nothing short of a concerted uprising by the Jackets to drub the Bulldogs in both of the coming frays will be convincing.

What with the losses of Captain Jimmy Stevens first string backstop; Aubrey Hobbs, third baseman, and "Biggy" Quinn, moundsman, within the last few days, a double win by the Jackets seems hardly possible. The Bulldogs are in first class shape, while the Engineers have been badly hurt by these losses, which have taken a lot of their punch.

COSTLY LOSS.
The loss of Quinn is likely to prove most costly to the Tech cause, as he was ranked as one of the leading

POLO TEAMS PLAY BENNING

Horse Guards, McPherson in Columbus Today and Sunday.

Polo teams of the Governor's Horse Guards and Fort McPherson departed the city Thursday night for Fort Benning, at Columbus, where the Atlanta teams will play teams of Benning this afternoon and Sunday.

The Benning games are an annual affair and the Atlanta fours go down this year hoping to obtain revenge for defeats suffered last spring.

Friday afternoon one of the Atlanta teams will play Benning's first team while the other will play Benning's second team. Sunday afternoon the procedure will be reversed.

Ponies were shipped to Columbus Wednesday and have been allowed a full day to recover from the trip.

pitchers on the Jacket staff although he is only a sophomore. Ed Heron, another soph, will get the call for catching duty, and should handle the post well. He has the makings of a first-class receiver and looks good for the number one post next year. Jimmy Frink will be sent to the hot corner, and has had enough experience to handle the job well.

Coach Bill White, mentor of the Bulldog squad, will probably send "Lefty" Murdock to the firing line to oppose the Jackets. John Jordan will take the bill for the Jackets in the first fray, according to all reports. Both these lads are winding up their college careers in this series, and will be ready to shoot the works.

WALTER HAGEN MEETS REVERSE

George Duncan Beats American Ace, One Up, at Moortown.

By P. I. Lipsey, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Moortown, England, May 16.—(AP)—Walter Hagen fell today, but Leo Diegel sprang forward to grasp the banner of leadership in the battle for international professional golf honors over the Moortown course.

Supreme in the medal play of the qualifying rounds, Hagen found a match play conqueror in his old rival, George Duncan, in the first elimination test of the thousand guineas tournament. It was the second time the famous American tested defeat at the hands of the Briton over the same course within one month.

Today's reversal for "The Hag" was by the narrowest of margins and had nothing of the crushing force of the Ryder cup discomfiture. Only superb golf gave Duncan a bitterly fought battle at the home hole.

DIEGEL WINS TWO.

On the heels of Hagen's compulsory retirement, Diegel was returned the winner in two matches. Mowing down two of his own countrymen, in his afternoon round, Leo reached the heights of golfing efficiency when he played the first nine holes in a record-breaking 30 strokes. The performance surpassed any nine holes ever played at Moortown and the news proved so startling to the followers of the game assembled here that those who did not see it refused to believe it. From tee to green, every shot on the first nine went right.

Joe Turnesa shared with Diegel the honors of the day's twin conflicts in which five trans-Atlantic players were wiped out. Only Diegel and Turnesa remained to represent the United States in the surviving eight, who continue the battle in two rounds tomorrow.

Jose Jurado could not putt today and he fell with the majority of the North Americans. W. P. Twine, a British pro, literally entwined the little South American in a net of mistakes.

JOHN VAN RYN WINS FOR U. S.

Montreal, May 16.—(AP)—The fine play of John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., a newcomer to Davis cup competition, and John Hennessey, of Indianapolis, gave the United States an almost unbeatable tie in the first round Davis cup tie against Canada today by easy victories in the opening singles matches.

Van Ryn gave the United States a flying start by overwhelming Willard Crocker, of Montreal, in the first match by scores of 9-7, 6-2, 6-3. Only in the first set, when he had difficulty getting used to the bad playing conditions, did the former Princeton captain have any trouble.

Hennessey made it a clean sweep for the day by taking the second singles match from the Canadian No. 1 player, Dr. Jack Wright, of Montreal, in a well-played four-set match. The scores were 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5. With both men exhibiting a fine brand of tennis, Hennessey pulled out the victory by his superior steadiness in the pinches and crafty court generalship at all times.

The same pair will represent the United States in the doubles encounter, as well as reversing the opening line-up for the closing singles match Saturday. Wright and Dr. Arthur Ham were selected as Canada's doubles team.

Mike Miles Visits Tech

Mike Miles, Princeton backfield star, is the probable backfield coach of the Yellow Jackets for 1929. He was a visitor in Atlanta Thursday. Miles (in dark suit) is shown shaking hands with Peter Pund, captain of the 1928 national champions. In the oval is a close-up of the Princeton back.

HAGEN IN THE U. S. OPEN.

"I believe Hagen would win the next U. S. open at Winged Foot," remarked a veteran pro recently, "if the championship happened to be played through high winds and hard rains."

There is something in this comment. Not so much that Hagen can control a golf ball so much better than most stars under these conditions, but that he accepts adverse conditions with a philosophy that few know. And while the others are stewing and fretting and worrying about high winds and heavy rains, Hagen is using up his time in playing golf. Few golfers accept all the conditions that go with golf as Hagen does—the cuppy lie—the heel print—all penalties that attend a mistake—the tough breaks that are part of the game—the putt that tips the cup and stays out.

"Why get bothered over missing a shot," he once said, "in a discussion of golf temperament. I expect to miss six or seven shots at least every round. I always do. So when I flub a drive or hook a mashie I can't see that it is anything to worry about. I look on it as one of the shots I expected to miss before the round started. And after all, there is always a chance to recover, and if you don't there is always one putt left to take a thing out. It is always funny to me to see duffers rave over missed shots when they must have known before they started from the first tee that they were going to miss twenty or thirty or maybe forty before the round was over."

In addition to a fine golf swing Hagen has shown the value of concentration and determination and the vast importance of not being discouraged. He had been the hardest competitor to discourage that sport has known. A bad beating bothers him less than any other leading star. That, also, he seems to consider as part of the game once in a while. Certainly his fifteen-year record has been one of the main chapters in sporting history, and his play over British links has been one of the most spectacular achievements any game has yet to show. To golf skill he has added a cool head and a stout heart and that trio is always something to best.

PITCHING VS. BATTING.

Dear Sir: Addie Joss once remarked that pitching was 80 per cent of baseball. When Joss was one of the American league pitching stars the statement was correct. But the Yankees are discounting it in present day baseball. With a one-man pitching staff they have fought their way back to the top through sheer destructive power. Unless American league pitchers can find a better system for stopping Ruth, Gehrig, Meusel, Combs and Lazzeri, the Yankees are likely to rush to a fourth consecutive pennant with one of the poorest pitching staffs ever in the majors.

The Yankees, last year, were discussing the merits of the various teams that had won pennants from Colonel Jacob Ruppert. The players voted the 1923 club the best. But Miller Huggins picked the team of 1927 and 1928.

"Give me destruction," said the mite manager. And who can say he was wrong.

ANOTHER COMING HEAVY.

Dear Sir: Another promising heavyweight is budding out in the near Middle West. He is Emmett Rocco, of Elwood, Pa. Recently he shellacked Johnny Risko. The baker boy no longer is a great heavyweight, but still is a good trial horse for any ambitious youngster. Rocco is lacking the science of boxing, but is a good hitter and willing mixer. Which is what the customers demand in a heavy. REGIS PITT.

THE ROUGHEST GAME.

There has always been some sort of argument as to whether football, boxing or wrestling was the roughest game. A large number of votes were cast in behalf of the grappling pachyderms. But Gus Sonnenberg, the old Dartmouth football player, has proved that football has it all over wrestling. Gus has become wrestling champion by introducing football tactics. In a recent match he merely got a quick start, dived at his opponent, rammed his head into said opponent's abdomen and the battle was over.

Sonnenberg, using this same football system, could make most of the heavyweights jump out of the ring. There wouldn't even be a contest. And yet any number of our heavyweights are the most expert wrestlers in the business, knowing every hold and every grip that the old game carries.

THE WEATHER HE KNOWS.

Horton Smith failed to set Muirfield on fire, but the young Missouri entry was a long way from the warmer winds and the fairer skies of his native beach.

It might be recalled that Hagen finished fifty-fifth in his first crack at British golf, so young Smith's lapse under the new and harrowing conditions is nothing to wonder at.

His showing at Muirfield will have no connection with his showing at Winged Foot, where he will again be some one to take into account. And he won't care how hot the June sun is after the cold winds and rains that came rippling in across the Scottish dunes.

Seeks Bouts.

Ambitious colored lightweights in the city craving action should get in touch with Battling Cyclone, local colored scrapper.

Cyclone has returned to Atlanta after several months of battling in Louisiana and Tennessee and is anxious to get into action with some good scrappers here.

Changes.

After trying out Ferrell, Mitchell and Elliott at second base, Manager Bill Clymer, of the Buffalo Bisons, moved Sax over from third to fill the berth.

Tonsils Removed.

Carey Selph, young keytoner with the Cards, had his tonsils removed and an operation performed on his nose.

'SLEEPER' WINS IN DOWNS RACE

Six-Year-Old Runs Great Race To Beat Out Good Field.

By Orlo L. Robertson, Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, May 16.—(AP)—Chip, Mrs. E. L. Swikard's three-year-old son of Supremes, was picked as a "sleeper" in the West Point purse at Churchill Downs and that is just what he proved to be today.

Sent to the post against a field of much more experienced runners, Chip ran a great race to beat Chicago, the six-year-old gelding owned by F. M. Grabner, of Chicago, by a head. Mrs. Swikard's colt got away fast, but was taken back and held in slight restraint to the turn, where he first disposed of Clog Dance, the leader, and then held Chicago in a mild drive down the stretch.

Chicago was forced wide on both turns, but managed to get up on even terms with the winner a sixteenth from the wire. He faltered, however, in the last few strides and took the place by three lengths from Reich Olga. The distance was one mile and Chip's time was 1:39.4-5. He paid $14.38 for a $2 ticket on the mutuals.

P. J. Mascia's Jack Biener, which has developed into a first class selling plater, added another stake to his list when he romped away with the Garden City claiming stakes, the feature of get-away day at Jamaica. Jack Biener was the favorite and at no part of the mile and one-sixteenth was he ever pushed. T. M. Cassidy's Fair Man was second and the Wheatley stable's Blustery third.

Mounted on Jack Biener was D. Brice, who divided riding honors with V. Peterson. Brice was astride two winners and a show horse while Peterson hosted home the first-place horse in the first, second and fifth races.

Under energetic handling by C. Landolt, E. McCown's three-year-old gelding, Don Fernando, was an easy winner of the endeavor purse, the one-mile feature at Ansonia. Away to a good start Landolt took Don Fernando into the lead after the first quarter and kept him out in front all the way. He finished two lengths ahead of Unluhu, with Vimont next in line to take the show money.

Miss Collett Goes In English Finals

American Girl Golf Star Plays Joyce Wethered Today for Women's Title.

By Frank H. King, Associated Press Staff Writer.

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 16.—(AP)—Glenna Collett who tomorrow meets Joyce Wethered in the 36-hole final golf match for the British women's golf championship title, is the first finalist the United States has provided in the 36 years' play of the classic tournament.

The American girl today added two more victims to her list, making six straight victories this week. While Miss Collett was defeating Mrs. J. B. Watson and Miss Doris Park, Miss Wethered continued her merciless play against Miss Molly Gourlay and Mrs. Edith Leitch Guedalla.

To British golfers the outcome of tomorrow's long match is a foregone conclusion. They do not believe any woman golfer can stand up against the powerful driving, accurate irons and putting of the 27-year-old English girl, who this week has been an unbeatable as she was during three championships she won before she retired in 1925.

HOPE FOR GLENN.

While Glenna has not been sure of her play on the greens and has had to fight to the fifteenth or sixteenth greens in nearly all her matches, the former British champion has disposed of her opponents far from the clubhouse, where a network of greens and fairways with several short holes often enable a player with a lead to clinch victory.

The hope that the small band of loyal Americans here have for their champion in the great golfing task facing her is based on the fact that since the start of the tournament Monday she has been coming into championship form steadily.

Miss Wethered has shown some slight falling off in form and today she even played some shots and even holes like any other girl golfer. Once she lifted her head on a shot, again she took three putts on one green, and shocked her friends a third time by laying herself a stymie. She found three bunkers with tee shots, a development so unusual that tonight it was widely discussed in St. Andrews where golf is played 15 hours a day.

If the American champion puts

GARDEN CLUBS WILL STAGE FLOWER SHOW TODAY

Cherokee and Habersham Members To Be Exhibitors

Perennials, annuals, climbing roses, flowering shrubs and novel blooms will be exhibited this afternoon at the flower show sponsored by the Cherokee and Habersham Garden Clubs at the Piedmont Driving Club. The array of flowers cultivated by members of these two clubs will be divided into various classes for which awards will be made. Proving the keenest interest of the exhibitors is the sweepstakes prize which will be awarded for the one outstanding flower of the show, the finest bloom only to be considered.

Several hundred members of society, who are interested in the cultivation of flowers, will visit the garden clubs during the afternoon to view the exhibit. Officers of the two garden clubs sponsoring the show will receive the guests assisted by Mrs. Montague Boyd, chairman of the show for the Habersham club and Mrs. L. F. Montgomery, flower show chairman for the Cherokee club.

The Habersham officers are Mrs. Trimble Johnson, president; Mrs. Lawson Thornton, vice president; Mrs. James Wells, recording secretary; Mrs. Langdon Quinn, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Fitts, treasurer. The Cherokee club officers are Mrs. Charles D. Orme, president; Mrs. Eugene McNeil, first vice president; Mrs. Andrew Nicolson, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Foreman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Glenn Ryman, recording secretary, and Mrs. Floyd McRae, treasurer.

Mrs. Cooper Honors History Study Club

Mrs. Mildred H. Cooper was hostess Tuesday afternoon for the bi-monthly meeting of the History Study Club of Atlanta at her home on Clifton road.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Walter Van Nostrand, who is visiting in Connecticut, Mrs. John Aiken presided. "Art in England," the subject of the day, was discussed by Mrs. Mildred H. Cooper, who illustrated her remarks with numerous prints of noted English paintings. Discussion of current events included brief talks by Mrs. John Aiken, on the Nicaraguan canal project; by Mrs. Cooper, on protection of the scenic beauty of the American Niagara Falls; Mrs. Lambdin Kay, on the Johns Hopkins university, and Thomas A. Edison scholarships. The next meeting of the club will be at the

Miss Jennings Is Honored By Center College

Miss Catherine Jennings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Jennings, of Jacksonville, Fla., who is completing her freshman year at Azusa Scott college, Decatur, Ga., has been invited to serve as maid of honor, at the Center college commencement carnival at Danville, Ky., with Miss Mary McRoberts Neale as queen of the carnival.

Miss Neale and Miss Jennings were classmates at Science Hill school, Shelbyville, Ky., a recognized college preparatory school, and were graduated from there in June, 1928. Danville, the seat of Center college, is one of the conservative old towns of the famed Blue Grass region of Kentucky, whose social life is noted for its gracious polish and charm and the honor which has come to a Jacksonville girl is one to be coveted by any debutante. After finishing her visit at Danville Miss Jennings will visit her aunt, Mrs. James W. Caperton, at her handsome home, Amberly, Richmond, Ky.

Naff; third, Miss May Hudson. For miniature exhibits (not to exceed five inches in height)—First, Mrs. Walter Lamb; second, Mrs. S. B. Naff; third, Mrs. John Harper. The judges were Mrs. Evelyn Harris and Mrs. Joel Hunter, chosen as experts by long familiarity with flowers. The offerings ranged from dainty miniature bowls through the wide realm of exquisite roses and lilies, to the more robust types of perennials and flowering shrubs.

Miss Goepper Weds Mr. Thompson June 15 at Home Ceremony

Of cordial interest to friends in Georgia and Kentucky is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Goepper of the engagement of their daughter, Beatrice Kathryn, to Joseph Daniel Thompson, wedding to take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents Saturday afternoon, June 15, at 4 o'clock, on Morningstar drive.

Miss Goepper is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goepper, both of whom are former residents of Louisville, Ky. On her maternal side she is a direct descendant of Colonel William Oldham, of Berkeley county, Virginia, who distinguished himself during the Revolutionary War, afterwards settling in Kentucky, and for whom Oldham county was named. She is also related to the Ross family of Virginia and Kentucky, as well as the Taylor family, of whom Zachary Taylor was a member. Miss Goepper is also a member of the Leazer family, pioneer settlers of the state of Pennsylvania. Since coming to Atlanta 16 years ago, Mrs. Goepper has been actively identified with the industrial and fraternal life of the city, being a prominent dealer in cottonseed and its products.

Mr. Thompson is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Thompson, of Atlanta, and is associated with his father in the Alliance Printing Company, holding the office of vice president of that company. On his maternal side he is a direct descendant of John Forsyth, at one time governor of Georgia, and is also related to Lunsford Daniel, as well as the Cobb and Hill families of Columbus, Georgia.

A number of parties have been planned for Miss Goepper prior to her marriage. Mrs. J. E. Souderick and Miss Minnie Daniel will be hostesses at a bridge-shower Saturday afternoon for the bride-elect. May 25 Miss Mildred LaHatte will entertain

Mrs. Langdon Quinn Entertains for Sons

Mrs. Langdon C. Quinn entertained last night yesterday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club honoring her two young sons, Langdon Quinn, Jr., and Hugh Quinn. The guests included Mrs. Logan, Mary and Frank Carter, Hollis Rawson, Cortez and Sonny Coolidge, Turner and Ashby Jones, Emily and Billy Anderson, Nancy Atkins, Elliott Tuttle, Frank and Betty Copeland, Zaida Clay, Jean Anne and Mark Pentecost, Mary Anne and Kate Westmoreland, Caroline and Dugan McCleskey, Anne Carter, Virginia and Anne Hurt, Tommy Quinn, Edwin and Dick Yancy, T. P. and Jimmy Yancy, Elizabeth and Emily Walsh, Laura, Walter and Travers Hill, Mary Elizabeth and Frances Beers, Billy Lowndes, John Wilson, Mary Elise Marris, Helen and Richard Tripp, Calhoun Witham, Josephine MacDougall, Bolling Jones III, George Bell, Jr., Patsy Barrett, Jeff Collier, Mott and Juliette Sims, George Seiple, Jr., Mary Cato Whelchel, Tur Du Bose, Emma Kate and Isabelle Vestman, Polly and Arthur Burdett, Bobby Evans, Dorothy Hall, Bobby Foreman, Claire Hewlett, Julia Eby, John, Vincent and Norman Kane, Billy and Catherine Griffin, Lillian and Rebecca Beal, George Leonard, Jr., Perry Ballard, Ches Hogshead, Laura and Margaret Palmer, Jean and Edwin Lockridge, Claiborne Glover, William and Tom Shelton, Mary and Buddy Lewis, Briggs and Philip Shaffer, Frank and Jerry Morris, McLaws Keiffer and Alice Johnson.

Mrs. D. P. Whelchel Entertains at Club

Mrs. D. P. Whelchel entertained informally at a bridge-ten Thursday at the Piedmont Driving Club honoring Mrs. Ralph McCrary, of Brunswick, Ga., the guest of Mrs. Nelson Niall.

Guests included Mesdames Whelchel, McCrary, Niall, Charles Mell, Jr., Emmett Ward, J. L. Wright, Jr., Harry Reynolds and Everhardt Cunningham.

Officers' Club Hop To Honor Members of Post Personnel

Fort McPherson, Ga., May 16.—The hop at the Officers' Club this evening will be an enjoyable affair in honor of a group of attractive members of the post personnel who are leaving the garrison for change of station. Included in this number are Miss Florence Blanchfield, Miss Anna Claypoole, Captain and Mrs. Robert Joerg, Jr., and Captain and Mrs. Rufus A. Parsons. A number of informal dinner parties will be given prior to the hop by members of the post personnel, one of especial interest being the informal buffet supper planned by Captain and Mrs. Richard T. Edwards at their quarters. The guest list will include Major and Mrs. Barrington L. Flanagan, Major and Mrs. Ward E. Duvall, Major and Mrs. Carl H. Seals, Major and Mrs. Augustus B. Jones, Major and Mrs. Hans R. W. Herwig, Lieutenant and Mrs. Robert Moore, Lieutenant and Mrs. Gilbert Procter, and Lieutenant J. R. Rockwell.

Mrs. Lawrence Halstead was hostess at a delightful bridge-ten yesterday at the Officers' Club at the post. The tea table was overlaid with an exquisite cloth and centered with a bowl of pink sweet peas, while tall tapers in silver holders were placed at intervals. The guests numbered thirty-five members of the military set.

Wednesday afternoon the Fort McPherson Officers' Club entertained at a reception and tea-dance from 4:30 to 6 o'clock at the clubrooms at the garrison in honor of the visiting officers who are at the garrison to observe the maneuvers taking place at the post as a part of the annual inspection of the fourth corps area headquarters conducted by Major General Richmond Pearson Davis. Miss Dorothy Tebbets and Miss Helen Caffey were official hostesses for the occasion and they were assisted by a group of attractive members of the post personnel in serving the guests, who numbered two hundred members of the civilian and military personnel. The tea table was covered with an exquisite cloth and centered with a bowl of garden flowers in baskets of yellow. Tall yellow candles in silver holders were placed at intervals. A group of attractive young matrons, including Mrs. Robert Joerg, Jr., Mrs. John R. Dinsmore, Mrs. Cyril Chandler, Mrs. Thomas H. Ramsey and Mrs.

Rufus A. Parsons, presided at the tea table. Mrs. Theodor G. Methven, accompanied by her two small sons, arrived this week for a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Dorrough, at their home in Atlanta. Mrs. Methven will return to Fort Benning Sunday.

Mrs. Youngblood To Give Recital

Mrs. Alberta Carroll Sumner and Charles Beaton will present from the senior class of the Atlanta Conservatory of Music Oella Hembree Youngblood, soprano, and Rosemary Paul, pianist, in recital this evening, 8:30 o'clock, in Cable hall. Mrs. Youngblood is soloist and director of music in the First Baptist church in Roswell. She won second place in the seventh district in the elimination contest in the Atlanta Kent radio auditions last year. She will employ on her program compositions by Surri, Godard, Schubert, Verdi, Warford, Strickland and Wares. Miss Paul is completing with success the prescribed course under Mr. Beaton. She is the talented daughter of Mrs. L. M. Paul, Sr., of Perry, Ga. Her part on the program Friday will embrace the works of Bach, Mozart, Chopin, Ibert, Paderewski, MacDowell and Moszkowski. Miss Hazel Wood will play Mrs. Youngblood's accompaniments. The public is invited to the recital.

Wesleyan Alumnae Hold Reception And Meeting at High Museum of Art

One hundred and fifty members of the alumnae of Wesleyan college gathered at the High Museum of Art yesterday to hear reports for the year 1928-1929 and to attend a reception in honor of the visiting clubs from Griffin, Carrollton, Marietta and Newnan. Mrs. Malcolm Dewey, treasurer, reported the total receipts for the year, $1,858.76. This included a gift of $100 from Charles A. Davis. From the amount raised a gift will be made toward the erection of an alumnae house on the college campus and out of this fund nearly 200 high school seniors were entertained at a spend-the-day trip to Wesleyan.

Mrs. R. K. Rambo's office as first vice president having expired, Mrs. Virginia Fraser Pratt was elected to that office. Mrs. J. B. McNelly was chosen third vice president, to fill the office of Mrs. Luther Randall, resigned. The term of office being three years, there were no other vacancies on the board. Mrs. Robert G. Stephens is president; Mrs. D. M. Byrd is second vice president; Mrs. Malcolm Dewey, treasurer, and Mrs. A. M. Roan, secretary. Mrs. Alfred Truitt was appointed chairman of a library committee to stimulate the interest of the Atlanta alumnae in a gift of books to the Candler Memorial Library at Wesleyan.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PETER SEES SOME GREAT DIVING.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The world admires things done well. In work or play, therefore, excel.

Peter looked them over very carefully. Presently he discovered just a head. "I see you!" he cried. At that the head began to move along between the lily pads and presently it appeared out in open water, right in front of Peter. Peter's eyes fairly stuck out. Yes, sir, they fairly stuck right out of his head. "Are you standing on bottom?" he demanded. "Certainly not!" replied Dipper. "The water is deep here. Not even Longlegs the Heron could stand on bottom here."

Peter sat on the bank of the Smiling Pool, staring with the most perplexed look on his face. A moment before Dipper the Grebe had been sitting right under Peter. Now he could not see Dipper anywhere. Of course, the Smiling Pool is not very big. Peter could see every inch of it. Anyway,

"Are you standing on bottom?" he demanded.

"Then how do you manage to keep all but your head and neck under water?" demanded Peter. "Why don't you float on the surface like a duck?" "I can if I want to," replied Dipper. "Can you?" asked Peter. Dipper made no reply. Instead, he began to sink until just half his body was under water. Then he remained that way.

"Can you go down and leave only your head out of water?" inquired Peter.

Dipper began to sink. Soon the water was over his back. Then it was halfway up his neck. Then it was up to his eyes, bill and top of his head were out of water. He stopped sinking then.

"That's wonderful!" cried Peter. "I didn't suppose anyone could do anything like that. Would you be willing to dive for me, Mr. Grebe?" Dipper suddenly popped up to the surface. Then, so quickly that Peter hardly saw how he did it, Dipper dived. Peter waited and waited, but Dipper did not come up again. At last Peter began to be worried. Then he remembered what had happened the first time he saw Dipper dive. He very carefully looked over the side of the water. He gave it no thought until suddenly Dipper popped up right where the stick had been. It wasn't a stick, but Dipper's bill, that he had seen.

Washington, May 16.—(AP)—Secretary Good expressed confidence today that former Secretary Dwight F. Davis would accept the post of governor-general of the Philippine Islands which has been offered him by President Hoover.

he thought he could. But, though he looked and looked, he saw no trace, not even a feather, of Dipper the Grebe. Grandfather Frog had told him that Dipper had gone down.

"What did you mean, Grandfather Frog, when you said that Dipper had gone down?" inquired Peter.

"Just that," replied Grandfather Frog. "He has gone what I do mean I am frightened."

"Oh!" exclaimed Peter. "You mean he has dived. Has he gone down into the mud the way you do?"

"No, I haven't gone down into the mud," said another voice. It seemed to come from among the lily pads behind Grandfather Frog.

NEW ORLEANS DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT CALLED POSSIBLE

New Orleans, May 16.—(AP)—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, here today declared that prohibition could be enforced in New Orleans, "one of the wettest spots in the United States." Local peace officers are responsible for the condition, he said.

"The claim that prohibition enforcement here is impossible is absurd," declared the dry crusader. "When those in power in the city say the word prohibition will be enforced just as any other law."

Mr. McBride was in New Orleans to attend a meeting of the Anti-Saloon League of Louisiana, at which L. W. Sloan, Broussard, was selected as the state superintendent.

Mr. McBride left tonight for his Washington headquarters.

LARGEST HOSTELRY IN WORLD BARS ICE TO CUSTOMERS

Chicago, May 16.—(AP)—The bogy of the government padlock has poked its way into the world's largest hotel and today the voluntary order went out to stop the service of set-ups to hotel guests.

The Stevens hotel was the latest of a series of hotels, clubs and cabarets to apply the blotter and mop lest they be the fate of the score of night clubs closed by federal injunction because their patrons illicitly spiked the innocuous beverages they served.

"Ice water will still go to the rooms," the order read, "but not bowls of ice."

Similar regulations, some even more drastic, are in effect in many of the city and country clubs.

"Crushy" wins in the tasting test

Orange-Crush is giving new life to the soda fountain, providing that different drink of fine, zestful flavor—giving new and refreshing variety to the inviting ice cream specialties served there.

The Orange-Crush Dispenser, at all soda fountains (with "Crushy" on the medallion).

THIS was the test, tried on ten able business men, in different lines, in the "fountain room" of a laboratory—one of the best in America.

Before each man came in, the juice of a fine, full ripened, selected orange was squeezed into each of four glasses. The fifth glass was filled with Orange-Crush. Each man in turn was told to select the glass containing the best orange juice, after trying them all.

Each of the ten promptly selected the glass of Orange-Crush as containing the best orange juice he had ever tasted.

Uncle Remus Memorial Festival Plans Bespeak Colorful and Fanciful Pageant

The stage is set. The grass lies like a green carpet awaiting dancing feet, the buds and blossoms wave greetings, and the birds carol a welcome on Snap-Bean Farm tomorrow at 4 o'clock, when Queen Marion Brandon ascends her throne. Miss Sara Whitteman, the retiring queen of 1928, with her maid, Miss Louise Hill, will greet and crown her. The approach of the royal party will be heralded by little Georgia Margaret Thompson in pink georgette, Bobby Pace in flesh creep, and James Alexander in a white satin suit. These are the heralds and with silver trumpets they will lead the notes of the royal approach. The canopy bearers are Billy Herd, Jr., and Ira Campbell, Jr. Little George Gummelle in a white suit carries the scepter. Biriam Baland is the crown bearer. The Yarbrough twins, Dot and Betty, in adorable costumes of shell pink georgette, are train bearers. Miss Nancy Branyow, who clothed herself with royal splendor as queen of the Peoples street school festival, will bring greetings to the queen from Uncle Remus, her dress will be a symphony of pink tulle, and tulle. The garland bearers will be fourteen little girls dressed in white gowns, carrying wands topped with Dorothy Perkins roses. They carry garlands of living green, and define an aisle through which the royal party passes to the throne. These children are: Isabelle Hersberg, Mary Ruth Franklin, Jean Sherrer, Helen Carter, Martha Livingston, Catherine McCallister, Peggy Falkenberg, Alice Mae Hooper, Martha Louise Paden, Anne Simpson, Jean Hooper, Martha Griffith, Martha Freeman, Midget Duval, Clara Wright Adams.

Maids and Knights.
Queen Marion has chosen as her maids Alice Butler, Bernice Thompson, Frances Holmes, Perry Stewart, Anne Johnson, Carolyn McCarty, Eleanor Johnson, Katie Lou Marbee, Margaret Dwyer, Esther Shubert, Gladys Catby, and Evelyn Mills. The knights attending these fair maidens are: Dennis Johnson, Charles Montgomery, Yost Smith, Gilman Lunsdale, Preston Hill, Joseph Roly, Clayton Berry, Jr., Dana Gibbs, Marvin Franklin, Fred Hill, John Spear, Edwin Spear. The little flower girls will be a symphony of pink tulle, and tulle. The garland bearers will be fourteen little girls dressed in white gowns, carrying wands topped with Francis Stokes Longino, Nancy Perry, Judith Hastings, Sally Patricia Connolly, Jane Chapman, Martha Virginia Carter, Pages, Cyril Schwartz, Therman Gunter, George Perkins White, Jimmy Mellock, Judson Asbury, Norton Asbury, Lawrence Bradley, Jr., Billy Bradley, Warren Bradley, Jr., Tommy Hardy, Billy Smith, Joe Burton, Willis Lowery, Jr., John Hallsworth, LaFayette Lamb, Thomas East, Jr.

Schools Send Groups.
Lee street school, under Miss Willard Threlkeld and Mrs. F. A. Johnson, send a group of dancers dressed as wistaria blossoms. Little Gloria Matthews in a blue velvet faunlety suit with little Sara Dunn in an old fashioned pantalolette dress of blue tulle will give a special dance from Lee street school. Capitol View sends a bunch of boys in red pants, white waists and clown caps to dance "The Jack-in-the-Box," also a charming group of "Dress-buds" who dance and fall asleep to be awakened by another group, dressed as gorgeous "Butterflies." Twelve couples from Capitol View will give the stately minuet. Miss Brockman and Miss Simpson are directors. Adair school, under Mrs. Haynes, will send a group of girls and boys to dance the "Cherokee Rose." Joel Chandler Harris school will be represented by Miss Betty Holcombe in a scarf dance. Miss Jacqueline Gullett and Miss Grace White, dressed as white rabbits with long pink ears, will do the "tap-dance." Joe Brown, Jr., High sends a group dressed as the "Cherokee Rose," to do a most original dance. Frank L. Stanton school will be represented by 14 little girls in an old English dress known as "Gathering the Peas-pods." This promises to be a most unusual and interesting number.

Peoples street school will present that dear old favorite the "May-pole dance," and as the charming childish figures weave in and out in the maze of the dance and at last bow before the May-pole interwoven in all its bright beauty, no fairer picture could be seen. Miss Moreman has drilled the children for this special number. The dancing pupils of Miss Vida O'Neill will present a charming number, "The Angel Dance." Narcissus Mevin, Frank L. Stanton school, under Miss Lillian Flynn, presents Miss Mildred Barnes in a solo dance. One of the most charming numbers will be presented by the little Clark sisters, Lida is a most graceful dancer, while her sister, Helen, will sing. These two children will be directed by Miss Lucile Shackleford at the piano. The Atlanta police band will furnish the music from 3:30 to 6 o'clock. The Boy Scouts will be on hand to do their bit. All the clubs and civic groups and churches will help to make the festival this year the very best one yet. "Miss Meadows and the gals" are coming and it will be possible to buy candy under the "honey bee tree," have a cooling drink of lemonade from the "Thimble-finger well," buy a gingerbread rabbit and cold drinks and ice cream. The fish-pond will be well stocked with favors for the children. Mrs. Wilson as president of the Uncle Remus Memorial Association gives a most cordial invitation to all the loyal citizens of Atlanta to come out and join in this festival day and help to honor and memorialize "Uncle Remus," the matchless, the incomparable.

Mrs. Miller Honors Miss Hancock.

Mrs. Preston Roy Miller entertained at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday at her home on Peachtree road in compliment to Miss Margaret Hancock, whose engagement has been announced to Robert Warren Phillips. Pink roses, snapdragons and other spring flowers were arranged in the reception rooms in which the game was played, and tea was later served at the individual tables. Top score prize was won by Mrs. Bingham Smith and the consolation was cut by Mrs. T. Heyward Simmons. The honors were presided with a hand bag. Miss Hancock was showered with many gifts arranged in a pink basket from the hands of which were hung many tiny wedding bells. The presentation was made by Master Pat Miller, little son of the hostess. Mrs. Miller was assisted with a hand bag by her mother, Mrs. W. F. Hancock. "We'll just have to do without Something"

YES, the Family Budget is a worrisome problem. There's food, and rent, and clothes, and the other absolute necessities. And then along comes some unexpected large expense—Junior's tonsils will have to come out next month—so, "no vacation trip this summer".

The street railroad also operates under a budget, as every business does, and the same arithmetic governs all budgets, whether they deal in hundreds of dollars or millions. When some unexpected large expense wipes out the margin between income and expenditures, then something must be trimmed, simply because the money put aside for it in the budget has been wiped out.

Like sickness in the family, exorbitant jury verdicts are the worst disorganizers of street railway budgets. And many's the time an excessive damage suit verdict has carried with it also the verdict that some greatly needed improvement in the car service will have to be postponed.

That's why your budget and ours are so closely related. It's our job to provide the car service, but it's your money we take in and it's your money we pay out. In your car fare, you pay the trainman, and you provide the earnings on which capital is raised to buy the new street cars, the rails and the bolts and the ties and all the rest, and also in your fare, you pay the damages when juries award excessive verdicts against the Company in accident suits.

Let us repeat here what we have often said before—if you are injured or your property is damaged through our negligence, we will make it good to you, cheerfully, willingly and without compulsion on your part. And when it is necessary to go into the courts to decide a disputed claim, we ask only the same fairness accorded an individual, and no more.

We are rather proud of this street railway service, but we know, better than you do, that it isn't perfect. There are many improvements in it we would like to make to bring it nearer to what you want and expect. And many of these improvements would already have been made, except that time and again damage verdicts have crowded them out of the budget.

All the street railroad service must be paid for out of the fare collected from the passenger as he takes the ride.

THURSDAY AIR MAIL

From: New York, Chicago, New Orleans, Miami, etc.

Arrivals: 5:17 a.m., 6:25 p.m., 6:30 p.m., 6:30 p.m.

Departures: 7:30 p.m., 8:25 p.m., 8:30 p.m., 8:30 p.m.

Gene Fricks, popular pilot for Interstate Airlines, Inc., operators of the Atlanta-Chicago air mail route, proved Thursday night that he is just as adept with the microphone as he is with the controls. Occupying the spotlight in a new capacity, Fricks told his unseen audience of the value of air mail to business houses and individuals and lent much color to his talk by relating some of his experiences while hauling the mail between Atlanta and Evansville. His talk was one of the features of Thursday's air mail week program, which also included a visit to Candler Field by 15 leading fire insurance men of Atlanta. The group witnessed the operation of receiving and dispatching air mail, inspected everything at the airport and then were guests at a dinner served at the field.

Today, a group of local manufacturers will be escorted over the airport and will have explained to them

GASOLINE PRICES LOW HERE, REPORT SHOWS

Atlanta Compares Favorably With Other Cities, Mrs. McCutcheon Points Out.

Mrs. Howard C. McCutcheon, secretary of the municipal research and statistics committee, Thursday was completing a report of gasoline prices in Atlanta for the first four months of 1929, following issuance of a report covering 1928 prices which she will file along with the more recent one at a meeting of the city council on May 20.

Highlights of the 1928 compilation show that dealers' net profits were 2.3196 cents a gallon; that there were 12 gasoline vending companies in Atlanta—five of which are known as independents; that comparison of service station prices in Atlanta, exclusive of state taxes, which vary in Miami, shows Atlanta motorists mobile owners bought at low figures as compared with those of other cities of the country and that only two—Memphis and New Orleans, because of proximity to the oil fields and more advantageous freight rates—bought at figures lower than Atlanta.

Further scrutiny of the report shows that the gross profits of 3.9166 cents was divided as follows:

Two cents commercial discounts, which dealers claim, 75 per cent	1.7678
Atlanta	1.7678
Augusta	1.7678
New Orleans	1.6498
Memphis	1.6498
Boston	1.6498
Philadelphia	1.6498
New York	1.2836
Nashville	1.2836
Tabulation of distribution of consumers' payment for each gallon of gasoline based on the 21.6708 cent average price for 1928 as listed in the report follows:
Refinery cost	7.8133c
Freight	3.8600
State tax	4.0000
Market's gross	6.8808
Dealer's gross	3.9166
Service station price	21.6708
